2. Purpose

The purpose of this tender is to appoint an agency to design and implement a Promotional Program for the UE eggs in the internal market. The aim of the project is to apply for a call for proposals to be co-financed under the information and promotion programs for agricultural products in the internal market by the EU Commission.

3. General information on the program legal framework: Information and promotion Programs of agricultural products in the framework of Regulation (EU) No 1144/2014

The information and promotion program on the EU eggs that the tenderers are preparing is going to be submitted and developed under the scope of the Work Programme for 2025 in the framework of Regulation (EU) No 1144/2014 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 22 October 2014 on information provision and promotion measures concerning agricultural products implemented in the internal market and in third countries.

The European Union co-finances information and promotion programs for agricultural products in the internal market and in third countries as stipulated in Regulation (EU) 1144/2014 of the European Parliament and of the Council, Delegated Regulation (EU) 2015/1829 of the Commission and Commission Implementing Regulation (EU) 2015/1831.

The conditions under which the program will be presented, evaluated, contracted, executed and justified are those established by the regulations and community and national guidelines for these programs, as well as the explanatory documentation available to interested parties on the web pages of the European Commission and the Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food of Spain (see the links below):

The implementing agency will be selected guaranteeing the best quality/price ratio or, if applicable, the lowest price, ensuring transparency, guaranteeing equal treatment, as well as the absence of conflicts of interest.

The tenderers launch this call based on all these conditions.

4. Period

Three years (2026/2027/2028).

The program actions will start in year 2026.

However, the last part of the year 2025 is dedicated to administrative matters and contracting after the approval of the program by the EU.

5. Presentation and objectives

The European Model of agri-food production is based in the European regulation for agriculture and food production and marketing, with the highest standards of animal health and welfare, food safety and quality and a low environmental impact, all in line with the consumers' demands.

Moreover, the political priorities of the European Commission for 2019-2024, in particular the European Green Deal and the Farm to Fork Strategy are the basis for the evolution of the EU agri-food policy and development.

The Farm to Fork Strategy aims to accelerate our transition to a fair, healthy and environmentally-friendly sustainable food system. The information and promotion programme on the EU eggs include topics that highlight and favour complying with these objectives such as the environmental sustainability of the Union egg production, the advancing animal welfare and the promotion of the consumption of balanced, healthy diets.

The organizations involved in the program are aware of the EU policies and of the consumer demand of information to be confident about the way the eggs are produced and to know the different type of eggs, in order to make informed elections at the moment of purchase.

Consumers are also concerned on the impact of the diet in their nutritional and health status. Sometimes are also confused under the influence of the food advertising, food and diet trends and the impact of certain campaigns against foods of animal origin. The result is that eggs are usually seen as a basic/staple food, but their interest as a nutritional dense food, produced in a sustainable way and part of a healthy diet is forgotten.

The excess of information at global level (and also the big amount of disinformation) and the frequent campaigns against the farmed animals and the safety of its products are also introducing doubts and concerns in the EU citizens, in particular about the egg production. The EU producers and their organisations have to address this issue properly. We need to explain the way egg producers work in the EU farms and packing centres, and the egg nutritional quality, safety and interest in the context of a balanced diet.

So, the program of information and promotion on the EU egg sector has to:

- Inform consumers about the European production model for eggs, and the compliance with the EU standards on animal welfare and sustainability by the egg sector in Spain, France and Hungary. The aim is to help consumers to have a clear view of the high level of animal welfare requirements in the EU at farm level and the different systems of production to meet the different consumer demands and the EU Farm to Fork strategy and the Green Deal commitments.
- Improve the reputation of EU egg professionals and EU egg companies in the four countries involved, to counteract the misinformation about the EU egg system of production and its high standards, and the EU egg quality and safety. The aim is to make egg producers a good example of highly qualified professionals, committed with the EU Model and the consumer demands, and working under the exigences and controls of authorities, clients, and the EU and global market competitiveness.
- Improve the consumer knowledge on the nutritional value of eggs, and its role as part of a balanced diet, in line with
 - The recommendations of the Food Based Dietary Guidelines of Spain, France and Hungary, and
 - The protection of the environment, the rational use of natural resources and the animal welfare (in the Farm to Fork Strategy) and also
 - The highest level of food safety.
